

Institute of social science

Broad availability of quality education and institutions perceive as a foundation for wealthy and powerful country. As well as, the growth level and future security of the country depend on development of social science. Taking into account these points in 2001 year Institute of Social Science launched master (Ms) degree programs of Turkology and History, later established master and PhD degree programs in Economic, Management, Finance and Communication fields. In 2013-2014 year established master degree programs in International Relations, Sociology, Educational Administration and Supervision of Lecturers, Philosophy, Translation and Interpretation, Islamic Science and Tourism and Hotel Management programs. In 2014-2015 year opened master degree programs in English Language & Literature and continuing to educate according to the international education standards.

Department of Tourism and Hotel Management

Particularly Kyrgyzstan and Turkey perform academic researches on the world's needs, scientific needs of the industry, develop the worldwide knowledge and tourism operator and managers skills and eliminate the needs of academic and worldwide knowledge of managers and operators in tourism sector.

Graduates of the Tourism faculty and graduates of other faculties can directly apply to the this MS program. Besides, graduates of other faculties must take the lessons of preparatory course to apply to the program.

Department of Simultaneous Translation

The aim of this MS program is to prepare highly qualified specialists. The graduates of Philology faculty can apply to this program.

In this program students are provided with scientific knowledge through research on the education they received at the undergraduate level and produce new information, acquire the innovations which emerged in the field of translation around the world, and it will be taught how to use this innovations. In this program the lectures given by the scientific doctors. Students increase their knowledge with practical experience in the field of their work.

Department of Sociology

The mission of MS Program of the Department of Sociology is to improve the level of education of the students who have Bachelor's degree at sociological sciences, to teach students at state organization and private institutions, which met modern demands, and to prepare teachers and scientific experts on professional level in the field of sociology and in the centers of scientific research.

Department of Philosophy

The goals of MS Program of Philosophy Department is training professionals in the field of philosophy, bringing up teachers and young scientists who would follow contemporary developments, who would work in public and private educational institutions and in scientific research centers. Program, especially university, aims to supporting students who want to work at secondary schools, high schools, in public institutions, in government departments, in private sector, in international organizations and civil society organizations to achieve their career goals. Another objective of the MS program is to provide a quality education on high level to students who wish to continue their studies in the academic field. In this sense, the MS program aims to the contribution to bring up specialized and qualitative human potential that will meet needs of Kyrgyzstan, together with intending to be useful for training scientists. One of the most important goals is to train qualified young professionals to the Philosophy Department of Kyrgyz-Turkish University of Manas.

Education Management And Coordination Department

The purpose of the MS program is Educational Administration and Supervision; Teachers, managers and supervisors working in the educational institutions should raise the professional competencies of the students; to develop knowledge and skills related to educational sciences, theories in the study area, to help them to understand models and research methods and to contribute to the interpretation and application training of individuals with competence. At the same time to provide them with the necessary guidance services on current information and have ability to introduce modern practices and duties of how to take advantage of them in Turkey and Kyrgyzstan. Located managers in the education system and of the institutions with our teachers officer training experts in education units will be required in this area.

Department of English Language and Literature

The department giving Msdegree after graduation, aims to give a more comprehensive information about English Language and Literature. It teaches literature and especially its features in the past and present. Improvement of theoretical training of English language and Literature, acquisition of knowledge about the development trends of the literary language and socio-psycholinguistic and typological characteristics; it teaches the historical and modern concepts of English language, it teaches how to investigate into the modern theory of text; it teaches language acquisition issues such as didactic knowledge and skills necessary for teaching English counted as a foreign language.

Department of Pedagogy

The main purpose of the department is to prepare highly qualified pedagogical specialists who possess enough theoretical and according to the KTMU education program as well as taking into account the preparation of pedagogical specialists in Kyrgyzstan and Turkey.

Department of Economics

The Ms's and PhD. curriculum in the specialty of finance was developed by the faculty of the Department of Economics and implemented according to the work program. The task of the Department is to enable students to acquire the skills of research, analysis, evaluation, interpretation, and problem-solving in the field of local and global economic problems with statistical and econometric methods.

Department of Management

The purpose of this department is to prepare scientific specialists and doctoral students needed in the sphere of production and services. The department provides opportunities for students to develop themselves with a team spirit, with local and global views, with a love to explore, read and solve problems, with an adventurous spirit, and with different points of view and to be conscious of their personal and social responsibilities, as well as their cultural identity.

Department of Communications

The purpose of this department is to prepare scientific specialists and doctoral students who can use the knowledge and skills they acquire and who will be able to work and be successful anywhere in the world, as well as those who can develop research skills and who are able to meet international standards.

Department of Finance

The aim of this department is to prepare specialists who able to respond to the requirements of the information age using the knowledge gained in the field of finance, who can work in both the private as well as in a public sector.

Department of History

The purpose of the Department of History is to prepare highly qualified historians and researchers. The department, using modern methods and approaches to the social sciences, gives an opportunity for students to become researchers and scientists.

Department of Turkology

The main goal of this department is to prepare highly qualified teachers, especially in the field of Turkic studies: Turkic languages, linguistics, literary criticism; specialists who will be able to decode and use the ancient Turkic written sources that have survived to the present day; and scientists and researchers in the field of Turkic languages.

Islamic Science Department

In 2011-2012 academic year with the establishment of Faculty of Theology the two departments -Islamic Sciences and Religious Studies Departments began their life in education. Since the fall semester of 2014-2015 academic year, the department of Islamic Studies with the acquisition of sufficient faculty staff within ISS (Institute of Social Sciences) began its graduate training as an Islamic Studies Department.

International Relations Department

The International Relations Department in accordance with the scope of the general objectives of Kyrgyzstan-Turkey Manas University searching, questioning, with analytical thinking, who can lead the society in a changing world, respectful cultivation of human values, reaching knowledge, generating knowledge, sharing and aiming to contribute to the development of our country and the development process. International Relations Department in addition to the courses its program gives classes including economy, law and current issues. It gives a wide range of opportunity for graduate students to choose the area of specialization especially with selective courses including the intensive language training courses (English and Chinese / Russian, etc.).